

Could I measure the signal here to see what sort of signal is going into the amplifier.

I Want to test the signal at these two pints and compare the amplitude to see if there is any signal loss

Once I get measurements I'll then do the same with another car to get comparison data.